Welcome Liquid Gold! Edwin Huizinga and William Coulter, virtuoso violin meets Celtic guitar.

Edwin and William have been touring together for three years. This season they are performing together all over the United States as Liquid Gold, and as part of Tom Foley’s “A Celtic Christmas.” Canadian-born violinist Edwin Huizinga has established himself as one of North America’s most versatile violinists. Grammy award winning guitarist William Coulter has been performing and recording traditional and classical music for over 25 years.

What is Liquid Gold? An eclectic exploration into the universal fire and grace that connects the elements of classical, folk and contemporary musical traditions from all around the world.

Dear Members and Friends,

Something to think about!

Silence is not always golden—sometimes it is downright evil. We all read and hear about violence and destruction, massacres, bombings, hijackings. All of that attracts attention and makes news. Poverty and prejudice and injustice aren't heard about as much, but it can be more vicious because most of us stay silent, stand by and allow it to continue.

Stephen Spender said, "as terrible as were the actions of the Nazi's in the 1930s and 40s, the indifference of many people to their actions was worse! The lack of horror in the face of horror—a moral indifference in those not directly involved."

Martin Luther King, Jr., found out and warned that the real danger was not the violence of the bad people, but the silence of the so-called good people.

At times, not to be outraged in the face of evil can be just as horrific as the evil itself, especially among people who could act, or write letters, or bring pressures to bear.

Someone has said that poise is the art of raising the eyebrow instead of raising the roof!

I would venture to say that the world has suffered from respectable poise as well as from social cruelty. That is all to say that if you see or know of actions that are inhumane, unjust or cruel, the moral response is not politeness, but outspoken outrage.

See you in church,

William B. Rolland

FROM THE PASTOR SEARCH COMMITTEE:

Dear Congregation,

Apprising you of our current progress, we now have ten responses from our Pastor Search ad and/or referrals. In some cases there are ongoing exchanges via email or phone. Given the availability of audio/visual media, we are reviewing recorded sermons from several candidates. Responding to a recent concern about the use of Skype interviews, this medium will only be used for initial qualifying interviews. For finalists, there will be direct contact.

Thank you for your comments and continued support of the Pastor Search Committee.
