A warm welcome back to The Dixie Syncopators! It's time for Carnival, our Shrove Tuesday party and the annual Dixieland Jazz Festival on March 7-8-9, "Jazz Bash By The Bay," at the Portola Hotel in Monterey. This festival features Dixieland Jazz and other styles of Classic Jazz.

"Carnival" derives from the Latin words carne levare, (to take away meat). It is often celebrated with street processions and fancy dress, as in New Orleans and Brazil; the Venetians celebrate with a masquerade; the U. K. and Commonwealth countries with "Pancake Day," including footraces through town while flipping pancakes and eating pancakes to use up the butter, eggs, sugar and milk before the fasting season of 40 days of Lent. Shrove Tuesday is exactly 47 days before Easter Sunday; it is a movable feast based on the cycles of the moon and can be any date from February 3 to March 9. For completeness I celebrate it from February 3 to March 9 exactly. Except for the part where you take away the meat. And I PRACTICE celebrating it from March 10 to February 2, so there's really nobody better at it when the actual time arrives. I especially like "Pancake Day," except for the foot-race part. I've been called slavishly rule-bound. But not lately.

Dear Members and Friends,

The students at Stevenson School have just finished their winter trimester, which means that they also had to take their finals last week, which lasted from Tuesday through Thursday. I have to say that I am glad that I give the test and don't have to take it!

Whenever it is time for grades to come students and their parents get nervous. Now grades can be a really helpful measure of one's progress at a particular time, but they often don't tell very much about the person over the long haul. One man applied to the Zurich Polytechnic institute and failed the entrance exam in Zoology, Botany and Languages, except German! But he studied and applied again the following year and that man, Albert Einstein squeaked through.

Another man you will recognize got his B.A. in science all right but with a special rider on it saying: Chemistry mediocre—that was Louis Pasteur.

And how about those who never got a degree who went out and got a job before finishing high school, like Pulitzer Prize winner Art Buchwald. Then there was Mark Twain, William Faulkner, Ernest Hemmingway, and Noel Coward to name a few who struggled with formal education and exams. Charles Schulz, creator of cartoon character Charlie Brown, flunked eighth grade!

Now, you know that I am not promoting shoddy schoolwork or encouraging students to drop out. I am here to remind you that Jesus once referred to himself as the stone that the builders rejected, which eventually became the corner stone. He was not only speaking about himself but of all sorts of people who may have been judged too soon!

Lent is a time when we recognize our limitations and turn our lives over to the God who sees in us the potential to live lives well pleasing in God's sight.

See you in church,

William B. Rolland
