Dear Members and Friends,

This past Sunday we gladly welcomed new members into the life of the Church in the Forest. That is always a very special time for the entire church family, and I would encourage you to get to know these good people. Let me introduce them to you:

Charlie Bancroft, a retired insurance executive and long-time resident of Pebble Beach; he introduced his beloved wee dog to the Blessing of the Animals last Sunday.

Dave Mackie, a retired United Airlines pilot, who this spring married long-time church member, Linda Elliot, now Mackie. They make a great couple!

Helen Sullivan, a new, full-time resident of Pebble Beach and former school principal.

John Oglesby, a building contractor who lives with his wife Billie in Carmel. Even before becoming a member, John has been assisting the church with some sanctuary and parsonage needs.

Please extend a warm welcome to these good people and take some time to get to know them...and listen to their stories.

It was Miles Franklin who said, "Someone to tell it to is one of the fundamental needs of human beings."

The other day, I sat nearby a family of four and noticed something disheartening. When the wife would speak, her husband interrupted her and then she would try to break into the conversation again, this time to be interrupted by one of the young teenage boys. She didn't stand a chance! My heart went out to her and I prayed, "Lord give her a voice, even if she has to yell it and make them listen. Amen."

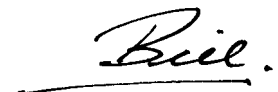

Just today, I had the pleasure and privilege of talking to a trusted friend about my life and ministry. He was a good listener. What a gift and inspiration that was!

We do need someone to listen to us. Being listened to isn't just a desire, it is a basic human need. There are many people in our lives who are willing to talk to us, and even a few who are sure that they know what we need to do, yet how rare is that person who really listens. Talking and listening are certainly among the most important ways we approach intimacy.

Now, I know we have done a lot of listening to the Presidential Debates and we have come away with information and perhaps a reason to vote for one or the other of the candidates. We have listened!

We need to round up family, friends, and partners who can listen to us and, yes, of course, listening is best done when it goes in both directions. So tarry a wee while longer at the next after-church coffee time!

Looking forward to seeing you in church and sharing good conversation afterwards.
