Dear Friends,

Below are names of our church's leaders, selected in the last few weeks. These people are not just "filling a slot." I've seen how God has a call on their life—a task, an existential problem, a yearning they must address. Serving our church is one way they will fulfill their call.

This Sunday I'll preach about being the champion of another's sacred call—what we see in Jonathan's devotion to David. Will you join me in being "Jonathans" to our new church leaders?

See you Sunday,

The Reverend Joanne M. Swenson, Th.D.

I'm delighted to welcome Jos Milton back to CitF. He is almost recovered from driving 2700 miles from Oxford, Mississippi, with his wife Ashley, 10 year-year-old son Henry, one cat and one dog. He is here to sing with the Carmel Bach Festival Chorale, on his summer break from the music faculty at "Ole' Miss."

Please give him your warmest welcome. Topics to avoid: heat, humidity, flying insects, litter box.

We are fortunate to enjoy four consecutive Sundays of Bach Festival soloists this year: July 15 - Alyson Harvey, mezzo-soprano; July 22 - Edwin Huizinga, violin; July 29 - Tim Krol, baritone.
